

Google, Buckingham Palace Road, SW1

Project Description

- New floor finishes
- New bespoke glazed partitions
 - Installation of glass and solid core doors/ironmongery
 - Bespoke joinery
- Modification of existing M&E/install of new
 - New data cabling
 - New fire alarm and fire curtain
 - New access control

Phase 2 fit out works to Google's new London office followed a similar design theme with the construction of rolling dice serving as video conferencing pods, 'snug' break out areas and the use of iconic digital artwork. Works were completed whilst Google were in occupation of phase 1 and ensuring minimal disruption to their ongoing operations was a priority.

Duration 8 weeks

Value Confidential

Designer Scott Brownrigg

Client Representative CBRE

Project Manager Mott MacDonald

M&E Troup Bywaters & Anders

CAMERON BLACK